Extracurricular activities chester guide book 1 pdf printable

World of Funny Animals: Should go without saying. Surprise Creepy: In Spencer's route, the moment where Eric finds himself being molested by a stranger is very jarring compared to the lighthearted slice of life tone of the novel up until that point. Sleek High Rise Apartment: In contrast to the rest of the cast, Darius lives in a large, well-furnished condominium paid for in part by his wealthy family. Operation: Jealousy: Appears to be a favored tactic for Darius when setting Eric up with someone. Granted, it worked, but it was still crossing a line. Makes sense considering the focus of the novel. Dialogue choices and actions will increase these points and if they are high enough on certain days they will affect how different scenes play out. Groin Attack: Delivered via tennis ball to Coach Grifter (courtesy of Chester) on his own route and Chester (courtesy of the ball machine) on Dozer's route. Spencer has been keeping his job as a stripper a secret. Like Brothers: Eric and Spencer, in any route where they don't hook up anyway. The creator has stated that more characters might be added in the future.Worthy of note is that this visual novel has exceptional writing that explores realistic characters and situations, as well as being mostly SFW. Of course, there is still plenty of Fanservice. Working with the Ex: Or rather, Playing Tennis With The Ex. Darius and Spencer used to date but broke up abruptly and on rather poor terms. Hello, [Insert Name Here]: You're allowed to name the protagonist but his Canon Name is Eric. Evil Former Friend: Most of the current football team, although Vernon in particular, towards Chester. Ladykiller in Love: Happened to Darius when he was briefly dating Spencer prior to the events of the game. Relationship Values: Each character route contains multiple hidden point counters representing how the love interest feels towards Eric. As well as background art by Gavel.A Slice of Life visual novel where a CrestHaven University student named Eric is the only human on the tennis team and gets to explore a relationship with one of his anthropomorphic teammates: Chester, Spencer, Dozer, Dariusnote (Originally, there was only going to be 3 characters: Grifter, Chester, and Spencer. Dozer is almost always a Blue Oni, being the calmest and more down to earth players on the team, as well as his hobbies with gardening. Eating the Eye Candy: The protagonist frequently catches himself admiring his love interest's physique, especially early in their routes. Most choices end up having Eric bring up the idea of sex pretty much right after they start their relationship, with Eric pretty much being told a straight "no" from said relationship. Token Human: Defied. The second time on the other hand... Porn with Plot: With much more plot than porn. Shower of Love: Assuming the player made the proper choices, this is where Eric and Chester end up making love for the first time together. Skinny Dipping: An optional event during Coach Grifter's route sees him and the protagonist swimming in his pool sans clothes, a perk of having a large privacy fence. He admits it's not the first time that's happened to him. At first subverted in Darius of all people's routes. For example, Coach Grifter's theme has a brass and jazz theme that feels like it's from the 70's, whereas Spencer's theme features vocals that sound of whispers and seduction. It helps that since they're all athletes the characters are often working out and changing clothes in the locker room together. After Action Patch Up: Happens over a few routes, usually the result of a tennis injury. What Happened to the Mouse?: The person that Darius hires to molest Eric is never named, shown, or heard from again after that moment. Also yes. Examples include Richard, Chester's boss Mr. Berkley, both Darius's costumer and his mechanic, and evenry named character in the night club Dynamite Springs. Bad Ending: If you fail to impress anyone by Day 3, Eric won't have a dream about anyone and has to start all over. Just don't get him angry. Hot Springs Episode: During Chester's route, he and Eric spend an afternoon at an Japanese inspired onsen together. Fanservice: If the massive muscular frames of the characters didn't tip you off, then the tasteful nudity certainly will. (The demo updates monthly as well.)A unique feature about this visual novel is that the creator is hosting a Tumblr pagenote You must have a Tumblr account to access. Dumb Jock: Averted by main cast who each have their own talents and hobbies outside sports. Effective? Where the Hell Is Springfield?: While it's implied that the story takes place in the United States, the game isn't very clear where in the United States it is. She Is Not My Girlfriend: Or rather, "Not My Boyfriend." This is inverted, where Eric tells Darius that he and Spencer are just friends. Limited Wardrobe: Averted, unlike other visual novels that take place in schools with uniforms, the characters actually wear different clothes on different days. Parental Abandonment: Two examples in Dozer's route. Beta Couple: If neither are romanced by Eric, then it is possible for Chester and Dozer to start dating. Rated M for Manly: The men's physiques are ripped and it's surprising that they're playing tennis with the size of their bodies. Hands-On Approach: During Coach Grifter's route as he is showing Eric a new technique during practice. Nothing Is Scarier: Just who is the person that molests Eric? Leaning on the Fourth Wall: Eric will point out that no one appears in his dream and he has to "start over", forcing the game to the main menu. Extreme? Cool Bike: Darius owns one which he uses for his job as a stunt rider. Press X to Not Die: Rare but a few routes do require the player to input quick button prompts for the best results. Meaningful Echo: "Big boys don't cry." When they were children, Spencer said this while patching up Eric when he was crying after scraping his knee. I Don't Want to Ruin Our Friendship: Spoken almost word-for-word during Spencer's route by both him and Eric when explaining why they were afraid to start dating at first. Dozer twice has to bind Eric's finger after he unsuccessfully tries to catch a fast moving ball. Poor Communication Kills: Ultimately what doomed Darius and Spencer's past relationship. In Coach Grifter's route he aggressively flirts with Eric and tricks him into suggestive positions to get the Coach's attention. Straight Gay: The main cast hardly shows any stereotypical traits. Second there is Dozer himself: his father was abusive and eventually walked out on Dozer and his mother. Running Gag: Chester accidentally hitting the ball to Coach's crotch. Distracted by the Sexy: Happens occasionally to Eric when working out with his love interest. After a disastrous date, Spencer panics and completely cuts the relationship off without giving Darius a chance to explain himself. Psycho Ex-Girlfriend: More accurately, Psycho Ex-Wife, courtesy of Dianna, who tries to frame Eric for assault and later breaks into Grifter's home. Examples include winning a tennis match, seasoning food, and keeping a character from smacking their tail around in a crowded store. In Spencer's route he takes it a step farther by having a friend straight up try to molest Eric in the locker room in order to provoke Spencer into action. Darius is almost always a Red Oni, mostly for his promiscuous nature and the mischief he causes within a lot of the routes, even his own. "Be Quiet!" Nudge: Maria delivers a particularly painful one to Richard during Grifter's route. Bara Genre: To the max, nearly every character is a svolie, musclegut beefcake. Compare Coming Out On Top, which is basically the human version of this novel. Popping Buttons: Coach Grifter loses a shirt button when he sits down too fast after a big meal. The next day in Grifter's English class, Coach accidentally tripped and caught himself with Eric's shoulder. Cool Car: Darius also owns a top of the line sports car which he is fiercely protective of. Chester is usually a Red Oni, due to his very open nature of the world of his interest and his anger issues. Slice of Life: The overall theme of this novel. Friends with Benefits: Darius keeps a network of these for when he feels like fooling around. Wounded Gazelle Gambit: Attempted by Dianna, Coach Grifter's ex-wife who hits Eric and then throws themselves to the ground, accusing Eric of assaulting them when Grifter arrived. Childhood Friend Romance: Eric and Spencer, if the player chooses that route. In the present time, Spencer tells him this again when Eric cries after explaining his living situation. He invites you to a cliff area and it looks like this might happen. They're outnumbered 100 to 1 it seems, but they exist. Leitmotif: Most sex scenes have unique music playing in the background for each character. Unfortunately, this caused Eric's injured finger to get jammed into his desk, injuring it even more, and gets sent to the infirmary. First there is his friend Harvey who was kicked out of his home after arguing with his father. Amicable Exes: We learn during Dozer's route than he broke up with Harvey but the two are still on friendly terms and talk frequently. Furry Confusion: Normal, non-anthropomorphc animals do exist in this setting and a clear distinction is drawn between them and the main cast, helping to avoid things like Carnivore Confusion. During Dozer's route when he suggests visiting the sauna for the first time stream prevents Eric from seeing anything beneath his Modesty Towel. What the Hell, Hero?: Eric delivers one of these to Darius once he learns Darius had someone corner Eric in the locker room and attempt to molest him in order to provoke Spencer and get him to admit his feelings. This grants the beta version with monthly updates and additions.note The creator stated that when the novel is finished, Patreon supporters will earn the novel for free with exclusive features while non-Patreon supporters will have access to a free public version where it will be the full game without the Patreon exclusives. Defied, after the artist changed, the creators have added a feature where you will get to customize the character's outfits as well as Eric's appearance. The final result is determined by the player. Except Richard. In a world where humans and anthros exist, we don't even know what species this person is. From Bad to Worse: In Dozer's route, Eric accidentally injures his pinky finger and Dozer patches it up. Mr. Fanservice: All of the male main characters. Ferris Wheel Date Moment: How Eric and Grifter conclude their date at the amusement park. All of the characters have unique personalities, each with strengths, flaws, and quirky charms. Although it was later revealed they had managed to reconcile. The Cameo: The artist's werewolf character Grant makes an appearance as a bouncer at Dynamite Springs. Yes. Darius seems to have picked up at least two of these from his conquests, including Isaac, his costume designer. Vehicular Sabotage: Darius is on the receiving end of this when his motorcycle is rigged to try to kill him by an ex-lover. Darius picks up on it immediately. Quiser Romance: Male/male relationships. Multiple Endings: You can get good endings with someone or you can get bad endings with no one. The two are so in sync with each other when they play they frequently don't even need to communicate strategy. Red Oni, Blue Oni: There's a lot, considering this is a story-driven dating simulator and relationships can change depending on the choices you make on each route (heck, routes can change your outlook on an entire character), but there are a few constants to keep in mind. He's only naked when you leave the water, and mostly to dry off. Read here for more information. Jerk Jock: The college football team and Vernon in particular, a former friend of Chester's, who shows himself to be a cruel and homophobic bully. It reaches the writing level of Morenatsu, which was one of the only furry novels to break the mold into popularity.The novel is in development and one can gain early access by supporting it on Patreon. All the Good Men Are Gay: Most of the men in this series that are neither background characters or a total Jerkass are implied to be gay or, at least, bisexual. Cannot Spit It Out: A recurring problem between Eric and Spencer in his route. Dreaming of Things to Come: Eric experiences this multiple times on every route, some are very simplenote (The route confirmation dream on day 3), others...not so much. Dozer and Darius were created about a year later and is the reason why they have less days than the original three.), or even Coach Grifter, the tennis coach. However, due to a unfortunate misunderstanding the relationship doesn't last. It works. This backfires when Eric starts bleeding where she slapped him and Spencer coming around saying he saw the whole thing. Themed Harem: All of the characters have different personalities but they are all on the same school tennis team. Through a Face Full of Fur: Every character is capable of blushing whether they have skin, scales, or fur. How exactly the two ended existing alongside one another has not been explained. Eric helps Spencer clean up a nosebleed after the former accidentally strikes the latter with a ball. Turns out Harvey had revealed he was gay. Played straight by some of the opponents they face during games however. All Gays Are Promiscuous: Averted with everyone except Darius. There is also a free demo on itch.io. If you would like a taste of the game before purchasing the beta version. Eric is usually a Blue Oni, due to his role as a audience surrogate but is also calmer and more collected in most situations compared to most of his relationship choices. Guide Dang It!: Since the game doesn't exactly have a way of telling you which choices you made are the best ones or the right ones which gets you the best ending or results, the creator has made official guides on each character for what you should do in order to earn the Golden Ending(s). Bash Brothers: Between the protagonist and his love interest when they play doubles but special mention goes to Spencer. The two didn't see each other again until joining their university tennis team which unfortunately causes some friction. Harem Genre: A Westernized take where cute schoolgirls are replaced by muscular anthropomophic men. Cast Full of Gay: Seemingly applies to the majority of the male cast and not just Eric and his primary love interests. From left to right: Chester, Coach Grifter, and Spencer.This novel and all links posted here are Not Safe for Work.Extracurricular Activities is a Ren'Py-based Bara Genre Furry Visual Novel written by DyneWulf and with character art by CaptainGerBear, also known as BigFingers Games Inc.note The characters were previously handled by CursedMarked but after about 3 years into development, he left the team. Gag Penis: Chester's route tends to bring this up a lot, pretty much confirming he has the most packing downstairs even for this game's standards. Agony of the Feet: Richard is on the receiving end after Maria stamps his foot as a "Be Quiet!" Nudge in Grifter's route. Fortunately, they work it out. Dramedy: While the novel is mostly light-hearted in general, every route has its own share of drama within it, with special notes going to Grifter's and Chester's routes going as far as giving Mood Whiplash to some more unexpecting readers. The worst part is that all we see is a dark shadowy figure, a silhouette with no name or appearance. Instead the two of you strip to your skivvies. The Bet: Occurs during Darius's route where he and Eric bet whether Maria can prepare a better steak than a fancy restaurant. Most likely, humans are just one of the many races inhabiting that version of Earth instead of being something special to begin with. Given that this is a romance game this can happen fairly often. Manly Gay: Although most of the cast doesn't start off gay, they are all very manly with huge muscles. Later in the route you go on a camping trip and it does happen. To wit: Eric keeps Spencer in the dark about being homeless for almost a year. Mundane Made Awesome: It boils down to being on the tennis team and dating your teammates (and coach), but the writing makes the sport feel dynamic. Goofy Print Underwear: Chester wears leopard-print trunks for most of Day 10 on his route. Camp Gay: Isaac, Darius' costume designer. Emphasis on psycho. Censor Steam: Can occur early in Grifter's route should Eric choose to peak on him in the shower where steam and water cover most of his rear. Friendly Local Japantown: There's one in Brindel where most of Eric's dates with Dozer take place. Big Beautiful Man: Both Chester and Coach Grifter sport rather large bellies despite their athletic pursuits. dedicated to Q&A with the characters, usually with tidbits outside of the novel.Compare Morenatsu, another furry novel with a similar theme and atmosphere. Kitschy Local Commercial: Darius is forced to perform in one of these, advertising a nearby seafood restaurant. And of course both have been hiding the fact that they have been harboring romantic feelings for one another. Chester ending up the butt of the joke. Plus, most dates end with the most intimate thing being a kiss. Shouldn't We Be in School Right Now?: Generally averted but played straight with the protagonist's math class which is frequently cancelled to allow the characters to do something else, to the point of Lampshade Hanging.
